Some Goer.

The Ford car that is with the road grader has run over one hundred thousand miles, and is a good machine yet. Where is there another machine that can do what that machine has done?

Uncle John Wassung is sending out some big post cards telling about his all-wool horse blankets, giving you a show to give your horse a square deal. Of course the price is reasonable, but if not able to buy this winter, just use the postal card, (it is big enough) by bending it, for one horse, and ask Uncle John for another card for the other horse.

As we came up town Monday morning we ran across C. H. Mason, the butcher and groceryman. He asked us if we knew what made him bald-headed? We told him, "No, what did it?" His reply was, "Why, the hair came out." See that smile? Say, talk about a smile being child-like and bland, it was good for a 15 cent oyster stew at Jess Hardy's any old time. We are of the opinion that Bro. Mason had no idea of how it happened until we asked him, and then it came as an inspiration, and now that he really does know what hit him he is as happy as a bug in a rug close up to the store and we hope he will never get bald headed again.

Go to see the Missouri State Fair Motion Pictures at The Royal Monday and Tuesday nights, Nov. 10th and 11th, and see how many Versailles and Morgan County people you can recognize.
